Abstract

A Bibliometric Study of Communications Published in Journal of Informetrics from 2012 to 2016. This research study demonstrates a bibliometric study of scholarly communication published by Ahmedabad Library Network (ADINET) in proceedings of annual conference (seminar). ADINET celebrates Librarian's Day every year to commemorate the birthday of Dr. S R Ranganathan by organizing seminar in Gujarat, a leading state of India. This bibliometric study is intended to bring out the results of seminar proceedings published by ADINET from 2005 to 2019. This study investigated 176 papers published in Proceedings of ADINET seminar during 15 years. Study revealed that most of authors prefers to write for this seminar as a single author and out of 176 research papers 119 papers are written as single author whereas 36 papers found with double author and 21 papers published with three authors. It is also found from the study that Rashmi Kumbar and Shailesh Yagnik both are prominent authors whereas Gujarat is leading state published a maximum number of papers.

1. Bibliometric

Bibliometrics is of recent origin and relatively a new concept, which has emerged as a research front in its own right in Information Science. The word 'bibliometric' is derived from Latin and Greek words i.e. biblio and metrics. Different scholars defined the term bibliometric among them few are well cited as: Pritchard defined Bibliometrics as "the application of mathematical methods to books, journals and other media of communication" (Pritchard & Wittin, 1969). The British Standard Institution defines Bibliometrics as "the use of documents and patterns of publication on which mathematical and statistical methods have been applied". Hawkins interpreted Bibliometrics as "quantitative analysis of the bibliographic feature of a body of literature" (Hawkins, 1977). Bibliometrics earlier was known as "Statistical Bibliography".

Keeping the relevance it, the authors realised the need to demonstrate bibliometric exercise with the ADINET Seminar's Book of Papers because library and information science as an area of research and practice is growing from theory building point of views and indeed is one of the most dynamic area of research as well.

2. *Literature Review

Bibliometric methods are primarily Qualitative and Can Also Be Utilized to make declarations about qualitative Images of scientific activities (Bissar-Tadmouri & Tadmouri, 2009). Bibliometric analysis is a useful and effective Instrument to obtain Information Regarding the current state of research in Certain areas and Enables Investigators to identify and Tackle new lines of Study at a Really Simple and quick way (Battisti & Salini, 2013).

Bibliometrics is now a typical tool of science, policy and research direction in the past couple of decades. All substantial compilations of science signs greatly require the publication and citation data and on more complex bibliometric methods. Nowadays, bibliometrics is among those rare, genuinely interdisciplinary research areas to expand to nearly all scientific areas and areas of research. Bibliometric indicators are increasingly being used as an instrument for research performance analysis. These indexes are all based on bibliographic databases, which can be designed primarily for information retrieval purposes so informetric studies represent only a secondary use of the systems (Wallin, 2005). Bibliometrics and peer Evaluation can simply comment with certainty about a Study programme's short-term Consequences, whereas it's doubtful If these methods Create any predictions Concerning the Study programme's long-term Consequences (Kostoff, Río, Humenik, & García, 2001).

3. *About Ahmedabad Library Network (ADINET)

ADINET is a Library network of over 2500 Libraries and Information Centers in Gujarat. It was started in the year 1994 by NISSAT (National Information System for Science and Technology), Department of Science and Industrial Research, Govt. of India, New Delhi. ADINET was established with broad objectives to join libraries and enable them to harness their limited resources and collective strengths, so libraries can continue to play their historic role as society's portal to information. ADINET promotes sharing of resources and disseminates valuable information by networking Libraries (ADINET, 2019).

ADINET organizes annual librarians' day celebrations, quarterly seminars, training programs, lectures, workshops, quiz program and panel discussion on current trends of library and information science with collaboration of various institutions. ADINET publishes Current Contents for Library and Information Library (CUCOLIS) to enable library professionals to update their professional skill and knowledge.

4. *Source

ADINET in collaboration with various institutions celebrates Rd. Sialic Ram amrita Ranganathan's Birthday as "Librarians' Day" since 1995. These collaborative institutes include: Information Library Network (INFLIBNET), Ahmedabad Management Association (AMA), Ahmedabad Textile Industry's Research Association (ATIRA) Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDII), Dhirubhai Ambani Institute of Information and Communication Technology (DAIICT), Gujarat University, Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad (IIMA), Institute for Plasma Research (IPR), Physical Research Laboratory (PRL), NIRMA University, Space Application Centre (SAC), Adani Institute Of

5. Objectives the Study

The main objectives of this study are to

- To list the various themes and editors of the Book of Papers
- To enlist year wise distribution of papers
- To examine the average length of papers
- To study the nature of authorship pattern
- To determine the frequency and number of references cited by the authors
- To examine the geographical location scenario of the published papers
- To evaluate year wise distribution of advertisements
- To list the paper contributors of ADINET Book of Papers

6. Scope of the Study

The authors put their efforts in collecting all the 25 book of papers, but could able to get the book of papers from 2005 onwards only. Hence the scope of the study extends over 15 book of papers published from 2005 to 2019. The study covers the papers, acknowledgements, appendices, references appended at the end of these papers and advertisements given at the end of the papers.

6.11 Prominence of Paper Contributors

The Table 11 shows that the top 10 authors of the Library and Information Science (LIS) professionals who has contributed for the ADINET Book of Papers during the study period i.e. 2005-2019. Out of 176 LIS professionals' papers (first authors) were published in the Book of Papers. Where ever the ranking was same, the alphabetical order of the authors name has been considered for the ranking. The ranking study helps authors rapidly to know the names of authors who contributed more into the field. The highest papers 6 contributed by Rashmi T Kumbar and Shailesh Yagnik followed by Shyama Rajaram, Bhakti Gala and Sheetal Tank 5 papers each. Lavji N Zala has contributed 4 papers and Ladhir Rabari, Nishtha Anil Kumar, P Lalitha, Parul Zaveri, Sanghamitra Pradhan, Shweta Shroff and U A Thaker has contributed 3 papers each.

7. Conclusion

The following are observations and conclusions derived from the above study

Bibliometric Analysis of Book of Papers of Annual Seminars of Ahmedabad Library Network (ADINET) is analyzed. The result highlights the significance of articles as an important information source. In particular, this study reveals a perceptual upward trend of collaborative research. It can be concluded that the result of this type of studies would appear to be of great potential in the library and information field.

It is concluded that this kind of studies will help the researchers in identifying the primary sources of information from which citations have been made. The ranking studies of contributors help research scholar rapidly to know the names of authors who contributed more into the field.

8. Suggestions

The authors suggest that to create an institutional repository of Book of Papers by ADINET so the accessibility of these papers will be widely accessed by the LIS researchers and professionals.

Also the authors suggest publishing a book which contains the abstracts of all the 176 papers which will be beneficial to the user community of LIS field.
